

OUTLAW'S AT THE CAPITAL

JOIN NATHAN OUTLAW AND VALENTINE WARNER
FOR A VERY SPECIAL MASTERCLASS ON 12TH FEBRUARY 2014

Two of the UK'S most exciting and entertaining chefs, Nathan Outlaw and Valentine Warner, will be hosting a special masterclass on Wednesday, 12th February 2014 at Outlaw's at The Capital. This exclusive event is limited to just 34 places and will include a drinks reception, cooking demonstration, and five-course dinner with carefully selected wines. The masterclass is priced at £225 per person and places can be booked by calling 020 7591 1202.

Nathan has made a name for himself as Britain's most acclaimed seafood chef, and he's looking forward to being joined by Valentine, popular chef presenter of TV's 'What To Eat Now'. After the drinks reception, the two chefs will demonstrate a selection of dishes for guests in the dining room, when they will actively encourage questions and interaction. They'll then head into the kitchen to prepare the special five-course menu created by Valentine, based around the very seasonal dishes he's known for, including wild game.

Held just ahead of Valentine's Day, this could be a thoughtful gift, or an alternative to a traditional candlelit table for two – with the two chefs certain to inspire even the most nervous home chefs on how to create their own romantic meal.

As a further gift idea, signed books from both chefs will be available on the night.

Located on peaceful Basil Street, between Harrods and Harvey Nichols in Knightsbridge, the Michelin-starred Outlaw's at The Capital is located in the family-run Capital Hotel. As well as the restaurant and bar, it offers 49 individually decorated bedrooms with an emphasis on English design.
